24 July 72

Harold –

When I went to check back issues of Canadian papers dealing with Bremer in Canada, I found that they had already been transferred to microfilm, so I can't send you clippings. The papers were thrown away after microfilming.

No matter, really, because they say and show very little. The 26 May issue of the Globe and Mail (which gives no more or less than other papers), for example, presents a picture of the crowd on Parliament Hill in Ottawa during the time of Nixon's visit. A man in the picture bears a very close resemblance to Bremer — in fact, I would say it was Bremer. The caption, with no extended story, merely points to the resemblance. I suspect, then, that you got no less information about this matter than I did.

My friend Bob Gordon (whom I visited when I was last at your place) is finally getting married — he was the last holdout among my school friends. Pity, though. The girl is Scottish and "considerably younger" than Bob (which is not a bad way to go, if go you must at age 40).

The date of the wedding corresponds roughly with my trip to N.J., so I will be in Silver Springs for the day. I'm afraid that I won't have time to stop and see you. We'll have to drive in in the morning and back to the Jersey shore in the evening.

Still

Dick